

Book One asked how a business earns.

This one asks whether it gets to keep earning.

It opens by grading its own predecessor. Eighteen predictions checked against what happened: three wrong, and all three wrong in the same place. That finding shaped the rest of the book.

Then five kinds of moat, five ways they break, and what you would build with the two that cost time and decisions rather than capital.

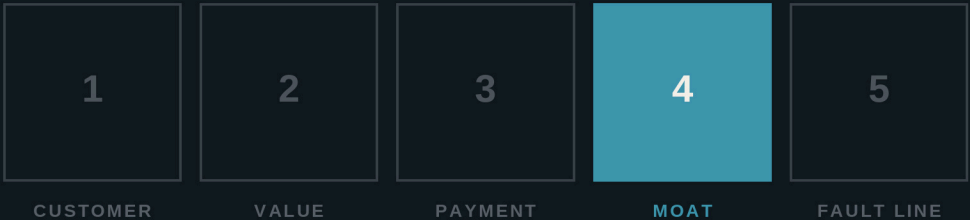

The Fourth Box

Jaehyuk Choi

The Fourth Box

Why Some Businesses Can't Be Taken

Jaehyuk Choi